A Summer Day

*Sun peeking over the hilltop,
 Roses caressed by the dew,
 A sea of bright morning glories
 Of every imaginable hue,
 Corn in the field, gently nurtured
 By the sun and the soft falling rain,
 Meadows all sounding with new songs,
 And daisies soon to be made into chains,
 New earth just bursting with life, and
 The laughter of children at play -
 I am happy because these are part of This beautiful, warm summer day*

Summer Magic

*I caught a magic summer day -
A butterfly with gossamer wings.
Alas, too soon it flew away,
But, oh, it left me lovely things
To store against November's chill,
To hold against a wintry sky
Where memory may walk at will
And all the somber world defy.

Bed in Summer

By Robert Louis Stevenson

In winter I get up at night
And dress by yellow candle-light.
In summer quite the other way,
I have to go to bed by day.

I have to go to bed and see
The birds still hopping on the tree,
Or hear the grown-up people's feet
Still going past me in the street.

And does it not seem hard to you,
When all the sky is clear and blue,
And I should like so much to play,
To have to go to bed by day?
